

HORNER CONFERS WITH HOPKINS ON ILLINOIS RELIEF

FEDERAL FUNDS AVAILABLE IF ASSEMBLY ACTS

State Would Receive About $9,000,000 Monthly

By Gerald Miller
Associated Press
Illinois Correspondent
Washington, April 29.—(P)—Fearing May Day disturbances, Governor Horner of Illinois conferred today with relief administrator Harry L. Hopkins to insure that he could take immediate action Wednesday should the state assembly pass on measures to insure Illinois' raising $3,000,000 monthly for relief.

The governor, after conferring with Hopkins, said he was confident the federal government would contribute its share—about $9,000,000 monthly—to Illinois if the assembly enacted the measures.

He said he would return to Springfield Wednesday morning to watch developments. In case pending bills were passed by the senate, he said he would call Hopkins by long-distance telephone.

"The money will be made available to us at once," he added.

Horner said he was "given the impression" that Hopkins really meant what he said when he asserted that Illinois must furnish the $3,000,000 a month or be cut off from federal aid.

"But Mr. Hopkins, and I," he said, "had a very amicable interview."

The conference was only a part of the governor's program. He came to Washington to set as one of the crime advisory council to the attorney-general.

Thereafter he conferred with Secretary Ickes who also is administrator of the public works program. He said he would urge local governments to expedite submission of applications for work under the $3,000,000 program.

Horner presented to Ickes a $400,000 list of projects proposed by city, state, and county governments. He said he had urged that the proportion of federal grants for projects be as large as possible because of financial difficulties of the applicants.

The governor said Ickes had advised that all political subdivisions complete submission of plans and other information to the Illinois PWA engineer. Whether applications will be forwarded to the national emergency council, or to PWA headquarters, remains to be determined.

He estimated that 75 per cent of the Illinois relief population was employable and that the $400,000,000 program would provide employment for 400,000—half the number of employable on the state's relief rolls.

Seize Man With Knife In Pocket

Boston, April 29.—(P)—Police today seized a man in whose coat pocket they found a knife as Augusto Rosso, Italian Ambassador to the United States, was passing through the historic hall of flags at the State House.

The man was Eugenio Camalini, 41, of this city, described by Ermanno Armano, Italian Consul, who was with Rosso at the time, as a "poor fellow, who suffers delusions of persecution."

Rosso, on his way to call upon Governor James M. Curley, did not know of Camalini's arrest until after he met the governor, but when he did learn of it, brushed aside any suggestion that his life had been endangered.

"It was just a coincidence that he happened to be there," said the Italian diplomat.

Henry Ford Has Added Millions To Equipment

Detroit, April 29.—(P)—Henry Ford, who announced a few months ago that the depression is over as far as the Ford Motor Co. is concerned, and added a few more millions of dollars today to the company's investment in production equipment with the letting of contracts for two more great batteries of coke by-product ovens.

The two new units of 61 ovens each are to cost approximately $4,000,000. Their purchase brings to about $27,000,000 the Ford share of the automobile industry's heaviest expansion investment since the early days of the boom year of 1929.

Plant expansion, new equipment and additional production facilities contracted for by the motor car industry in the last few months is nearing the $40,000,000 mark.

OMAHA STRIKE SYMPATHIZERS ATTACK TRAMS

Beat Crew And Guard Before Being Dispersed

Omaha, Neb., April 29.—(P)—First violence in a 10-day old strike of 400 organized employees of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company flared here late today when a crowd of 100 strike sympathizers attacked a street car, smashed the windows, beat the crew and a guard, and stoned other trams.

The action took place soon after the announcement of a parade of union men to protest against operation of the street cars in defiance of the strikers.

Scored of persons at the scene of the riot were gassed as police released tear gas in an effort to disperse a howling, jeering throng estimated at 3,000 persons.

A crowd of 50 strike sympathizers stopped a tram a few blocks from where the parade ended, smashed the front window, swarmed into the car, routed a dozen passengers, and set upon R. W. Phillips, motorman, L. Wakenight, a student operator, and a guard, Alfred Circassano. None was believed seriously hurt.

A dozen men forced a policeman to release a woman he had arrested. The woman was said to have been inciting the sympathizers to further violence.

Herman Westover, a rookie policeman, was bruised and cut when man-handled by the sympathizers.

Police reported six men were held in connection with the disorders. Two of the five said they were street car operators.

Mail Robbery Suspect Taken By Federal Men

Robert Demarest Suspected Of Implication In Butler Pa. Truck Stickup

Providence, R. I., April 29.—(P)—U. S. Attorney J. Howard Magrath announced late tonight that Robert Ernest Demarest, serving a sentence for violation of the narcotic laws, had been charged with the robbery of a mail truck in Butler, Pa., and was suspected of implication in an armed car robbery at Brooklyn, N. Y.

McGrath said that Demarest had attempted to escape tonight from a postal inspector while he was being brought from the Providence county jail at Howard, R. I., for questioning at the federal building here. An additional charge of resisting arrest would be placed against him, the prosecutor said.

Demarest, alias "The Duke," was charged with the Butler, Pa. robbery, in which $50,000 was stolen, McGrath said. He added that Demarest was serving a four-months sentence in jail on the narcotic charges, after pleading guilty to escape possible detention for other crimes.

McGrath said Demarest had been arrested in New York in 1924 on charges of robbing the Momo Plan Loan company of $47,000, although he had not been convicted in that case.

Demarest attempted to slay Tennessee Jefferson, a postal inspector, McGrath said, as Jefferson was bringing him to McGrath's office.

Freeport, Ill., April 19.—(P)—Albert Klever, 40, was killed in a triple automobile collision today under a railroad viaduct. Five others were injured, none seriously.

CONGRESS SEEKS SPEED TO FILL FDR PROGRAM

Immediate Stumbling Blocks Appear However

By D. Harold Oliver
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, April 29.—(P)—President Roosevelt's five-point program for the remainder of the present Congress today spurred Democratic leaders to demand higher speed and "better cooperation" to prevent the session from continuing into late July.

Immediate stumbling blocks appeared, however. The senate remained in the throes of a determined southern filibuster against consideration of the anti-lynching bill. Republican chiefs, joined by a few Democrats, clouded the situation further with demands that part of the administration's agenda be scrapped to allow early adjournment.

Speaker Byrns was expressed confidence the house could complete action on the president's legislative calendar and adjourn by mid-June, but a few hours later the senate, for the third time in as many days, refused to sidetrack the argument over the anti-lynching legislation, voting 38 to 37 to continue with it again tomorrow.

Southern Democrats held the floor through much of the day talking against the motion of Senator Cotten (D. Colo.) to consider his bill to make lynching a federal crime.

Ranked behind this unsettled controversy were the controversial bonus bill already passed by the house, and five measures mentioned by the president in his radio speech last night as the minimum for action at this session—NRA extension, banking, transportation regulation, social security and elimination of unnecessary public holding companies.

Only two of these five measures have been acted upon, one by each house. The senate has passed a bill placing control over interstate buses and trucks in the interstate commerce commission. The house has approved the social security bill.

Mrs. Blackledge Released From Prison Again

Former Revenue Collector Obtains Freedom On $2,500 Bond

Chicago, April 29.—(P)—Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge, former Republican collector of internal revenue, was released from jail again today.

This time Mrs. Blackledge, sent to the county jail a second time on April 8 after failure to pay a $7,500 judgment awarded Mrs. Susanne Nottingham for the alienation of affections of her husband, Policeman Norman (Dear Denney) Nottingham, obtained release on $2,500 bond for an appeal on a habeas corpus writ which had been dismissed in federal court.

In her effort to escape serving a six months term made possible through a malice claim in the judgment, Mrs. Blackledge asked the state supreme court, without success, to review her case, then sought to evade judgment through a federal bankruptcy action and tried to keep out of jail by a habeas corpus writ pending the bankruptcy hearing.

She served a few days in jail at conclusion of the trial several months ago but obtained freedom pending a supreme court decree on the motion for review.

Insull Seeks Vindication

Chicago, April 29.—(P)—Samuel Insull, through his attorney, Floyd Thompson, today announced he will go into federal court tomorrow to press his fight for "vindication" in two directions.

The former utilities chief will go before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, in whose court he was acquitted of mail fraud charges, seeking reduction of his bond from $200,000 to $10,000. The petition to be presented stated he "is wholly unable to make the bail" again when it expires May 11.

Insull also said he and five defendants, under indictment for violation of federal bankruptcy laws would demand an immediate trial. U. S. Attorney Dwight Green had previously announced the government would not bring the bankruptcy trial to court before June.

Meanwhile, in Washington, another ramification of the collapse of the vast utilities structure which Insull captained reached a settlement through a supreme court decision. The body upheld a lower court decision which dismissed a stockholder's suit to set aside the receivership setup of the Middle West Utilities company.

BUSINESS FAILURES

New York, April 29.—(P)—Business failures last week were the lowest for any like period since the last week in March. Dun & Bradstreet reported today. They totaled 249 compared with 253 in the previous week and 262 in the corresponding period last year.

Says Maneuvers For Purpose Of Bluffing Japan

Topeka, Kas., April 29.—(P)—Dr. Charles M. Sheldon, famous crusader for world peace, asserted tonight American naval maneuvers in the Pacific are "for the purpose of bluffing Japan."

They are "exhibitions of truculence and bad manners," said the white-haired minister and author of "In His Steps"—a book that has sold 23,000,000 copies and reputedly as "the world's best seller next to the Bible."

"There is no reason for the maneuvers. Japan has no intention of attacking us. The very idea is absurd," Dr. Sheldon said.

"It looks like a crime to spend money for such a warlike exhibition at a time when men are walking the streets hungry and when citizens are burdened with economic troubles," Dr. Sheldon—keen-eyed and aggressively active at 78—is confident there will not be another world war.

MAX PERROT'S BODY FOUND IN CHICAGO RIVER

4-Year Old Deaf Mute Had Been Missing 25 Days

Chicago, April 29.—(P)—Police pursued an investigation of the death of little Richard Max Perrot tonight after his 25-day disappearance was ended with recovery of his battered body from the Chicago river.

Sighted by a truck driver bobbing in the north branch this morning in the wake of a motor launch, the body was quickly identified by the father, Max Perrot. The dead four-year-old deaf mute was still clad in the green suit and leather helmet he wore when last seen alive April 4.

Though police thought the bruises might be accounted for by the washing of the body against river pilings during its long immersion, they were not fully satisfied that all suspicion of external violence had been discounted.

Throughout the grim hunt in which American Legion members, Boy Scouts, school children and emergency watchmen had joined at times, police had clung to a theory that the boy had been the victim of a moron. His last appearance was recorded as in the company of a "tall, thin man," leading to the arrest of several suspects. One, Joseph Bothe, an escaped Elgin insane hospital inmate, was questioned at length after administration of "truth serum."

Though they generally swung to the belief that the child had wandered along the river, which runs only a block from the Perrot home, and had fallen into the water, the authorities requested a thorough examination of the body by a coroner's physician to determine definitely whether there had been foul play.

The father insisted: "I still think my boy was the victim of a moron. I'm going to continue the search for his murderer."

There was one large bruise over an eye which the father believed was caused from a blow before the body reached the water.

MAY BE HELD IN CONTEMPT

Chicago, April 29.—(P)—Superior Court Judge Rudolph F. Desort today ruled that state Representative Charles H. Weber (D-Chicago) must show cause on May 17 why he should not be held in contempt of court for being $10,715 in arrears in alimony payments to his former wife, Eleanor. Mrs. Weber divorced the legislator in 1925, but they remarried the same year. In 1933 he divorced her.

MARK TANDY SUICIDES

Dallas City, Ill., April 29.—(P)—Mark Tandy, 87, deaf and nearly blind ornithologist, after writing his obituary and will on a piece of cardboard, shot and killed himself yesterday the coroner reported today. Failing health and despondency were believed to be the cause of his act.

Commerce Commission Stepped Into Southern Illinois Utility Strike

Chicago, April 29.—(P)—The Illinois Commerce Commission, at the request of Governor Henry Horner, today stepped into the Southern Illinois utility strike, which for 26 days has tied up gas and light service in half a dozen towns and cities.

A conference between the governor, the Illinois Power and Light corporation and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers has been called for Friday in Springfield, and representatives of the company have agreed to attend. Tonight the commission was without direct word from the union, but was confident representatives will be present.

"The governor has instructed the commission to proceed immediately to compel a resumption in gas, electric and water service in the affected territory," said the commission's announcement. "The governor said the full force of the state would be placed behind any finding of the commission."

In his message to the commission, the governor made the immediate resumption of service a condition of the conference.

Judge Thomas M. Jett, of the fourth district circuit court, has issued an injunction restraining union officials for calling or furthering any strike and forcing them to rescind their strike order," the governor stated. "I have assurance from Judge Jett that participation in these demonstrations be considered to be a violation of the injunctive order."

"It is not my desire or purpose to predominate the issues in controversy, xxxPWA necessity, however, requires the protection of the health and welfare of the citizens affected and who are not the contending parties."

CHICAGO RELIEF SITUATION UNDER POLICE GUARDS

9,800 Employees Have Been Cut Off Payrolls

Chicago, April 29.—(P)—Police guards were posted at Chicago relief stations today and most of the 9,800 employees of the Illinois emergency relief commission were cut off the payroll as a result of the agency's financial collapse.

Captain Daniel Gilbert, chief of the uniformed police, assigned patrolmen to the I E R C headquarters and 11 relief officers to prevent any violence that might crop out with the cessation of normal relief activities tomorrow night. He also ordered district captains to have squads ready in event radical elements seek to conduct "May Day" demonstrations at the relief bureaus.

The commission notified its workers they would not be needed after tomorrow night, although they might continue their duties on a volunteer basis. Some 1,150 of the 5,500 employees in Chicago were retained, however, to administer emergency services and dole out necessities to the 600,000 Cook county clients. Their work will be financed for the next week by $1,200,000 provided by the county. About 800 of the staff here will be required to maintain the transient shelters.

Except in half a dozen counties with financial surpluses, the 620,000 unemployed downstate will be forced to go through the crisis on their own resources or private charity unless the federal or local governments come to their aid.

13 Year Old Cripple Faces Murder Charge

Officers Claim Boy Confessed Setting Fire To Six Buildings

Chicago, April 29.—(P)—A 13-year-old cripple who confessed he set six fires in the fashionable Rogers Park district for the thrill of seeing fire engines and spreading terror among the wealthy, faced murder charges tonight.

Fire Attorney Thomas J. Sheehan recommended that the boy, Edward Malloy, be arraigned on charges of murder by arson in the death of Mrs. Julia Goldberg, 72, who was trapped in one of the half dozen apartment houses set afire early last Tuesday.

Sheehan announced the boy had ported in the eight counties since the dust storms started blowing this year and that there were 1,500 active cases at present.

Dr. William Kleckner, national Red Cross medical director, said it had been noted that development of pneumonia by measles victims was on the increase in the dust belt. He attributed it to flying dust particles irritating the sore throat and lungs of the patient.

Health representatives at Wichita and Topeka, Kas., speeded up production of an order for 10,000 cloth dust masks, with 100,000 the ultimate goal of Red Cross workers.

OPPOSE LIQUOR

Chicago, April 29.—(P)—The Illinois conference of the Evangelical Lutheran Augustana Synod of North America today adopted a resolution declaring its opposition to "liquor traffic" and urging its churches to uphold standards of abstinence, especially among young people.

The resolution further pledged the conference's support of the anti-saloon league.

HUGE LIQUOR SHIPMENT

Pekin, Ill., April 29.—(P)—John Bernard, plant manager for the American Distillery company, today said that what he believed to be the largest shipment of liquor ever to leave the midwest, would be sent Wednesday to the company's new bottling plant at Hoboken, N. J., by train-barge. Six hundred tons, about 120,000 gallons of liquor, will constitute the shipment, he said.

GRASS ROOTS CONVENTION OF REPUBLICAN PARTY TO BE HELD IN SPRINGFIELD

REPUBLICANS PLAN ATTACK ON NEW DEAL

Leaders From 6 States Are In Conference At Boston

By James S. Hawkins
Associated Press Staff Writer
Boston, April 29.—(P)—A concerted attack on the New Deal and a bitter indictment of the AAA's policies was promised tonight as republican leaders of six states gathered here on the eve of a New England regional conference.

A militant declaration by U. S. Representative Joseph W. Martin, who headed the group seeking President Roosevelt's intervention in New England's textile crisis, sounded a keynote for the meeting.

"The last two months plainly indicate that the welfare of the textile industry lies with the republican party," Martin asserted on his arrival from Washington to attend the conference regarded nationally as the forerunner to similar gatherings coincident to launching the 1936 republican campaign.

"I think it is time to lay plans and organize for the 1936 campaign," he said in expressing optimism over the G. O. P. outlook for 1936.

Martin was expected to lead the assault on the AAA cotton policies in his address at the banquet tomorrow night.

Party leaders tonight said that plans and policies rather than Candidates and platforms would be emphasized at tomorrow's sessions.

They said they hoped to crystallize sentiment for the drive in the state and national elections of 1936. The banquet was pronounced a sell-out with reservations taken for more than 1,000 persons.

Dust Storms In 5 States Kill Nine Persons

6,000 Cases Of Measles In Eight Counties In Western States

Liberal, Kas., April 29.—(P)—Nine deaths within a week, 6,000 cases of measles and 200 "dust cases" formed portions of a dark picture etched here today at a five-state health conference on conditions in the nation's dust storm sector.

Health representatives of Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas decided to concentrate work for the present in seven southwestern Kansas counties and one in southeastern Colorado.

Two of the nine deaths, all attributed to pneumonia aggravated by dust, occurred today. Albert Evans, in charge of dust storm Red Cross headquarters in Liberal, said the 6,000 cases of measles had been reported in the eight counties since the dust storms started blowing this year and that there were 1,500 active cases at present.

Dr. William Kleckner, national Red Cross medical director, said it had been noted that development of pneumonia by measles victims was on the increase in the dust belt. He attributed it to flying dust particles irritating the sore throat and lungs of the patient.

Volunteer workers at Wichita and Topeka, Kas., speeded up production of an order for 10,000 cloth dust masks, with 100,000 the ultimate goal of Red Cross workers.

Woman Kills Man Then Suicides

Joliet, Ill., April 29.—(P)—Mrs. Eleanor Smith Hoover, 32, Joliet, police said, shot and killed Edward Schenkel, 55, Chicago, today and then killed herself to climax circumstances indicating a lovers' quarrel. The shooting occurred in the rear room of a tavern.

Schenkel was identified by a leather tag he carried as a mail sorter at the La Salle St. Station, Chicago. He was unmarried. Mrs. Hoover was on the relief roll. She was twice divorced.

Mrs. Ruby Garrison, waitress in the tavern and Mrs. Hoover's landlady, heard the shots and found the bodies lying with their feet almost touching. Schenkel had been shot once under the eye, and Mrs. Hoover had a wound in the head.

Mrs. Garrison told police that Schenkel formerly roomed at her home. She said that Mrs. Hoover had expressed love for him and had said she would kill him.

FINDS SONS BODY

Robinson, Ill., April 29.—(P)—Ray Simpson today found the body of his 15-year-old son, William, suspended from a rafter in his garage. The youth had not returned home last night. Coroner J. W. Long said the parents were unable to advance a reason for the act.

Santa Claus Dies But A Successor Will Be Named

Santa Claus, Ind., April 29.—(P)—There will be another "Santa Claus" here next Christmas.

James P. Martin, into whose hands have come for the past few years the annual letters children throughout the nation mail to "Santa Claus," died of paralysis Sunday. He was 60 years old, and for 28 years had been postmaster this tiny southern village.

Each December gifts and greeting cards poured into the limited postal quarters of Martin's general store for the magic stamp that proved to youngsters the world over that their mail actually came from "Santa Claus."

THREE ESCAPED CONVICTS BACK IN THEIR CELLS

One Prisoner Breaks Both Legs In 25 Foot Leap

Joliet, Ill., April 29.—(P)—Three of four convicts who broke from the Joliet penitentiary today, using a sash cord and pipe wrench as their tools, were back in prison tonight.

Edward Martin, 30, sentenced to one to 20 years for robbery, was still a fugitive.

Two of the three men recaptured—Martin (Big Six) Schroeder and William Kirkpatrick—injured their legs in dropping to the ground from the 25 foot stone wall fencing the penitentiary. George Patterson, the other convict, negotiated the drop safely, but was captured in a box car near New Lenox, 10 miles east of here.

Schroeder, whose 272 pounds of weight gave him his nickname, fractured both ankles in dropping from the sash cord strung over the wall and his liberty was short. Guards found him moaning in a clump of brush near the wall.

Kirkpatrick, suffering a sprained ankle, was recaptured late today in a job jungle two miles east of Joliet. He surrendered meekly when guards armed with rifles and commanded by Capt. J. R. Carpenter, found him.

The four men, all occupants of one cell, were quartered in the top gallery of the diagnostic hospital, assigned to reconstruction work. With them was Edward Kazda, 41, sentenced from Chicago to one to 10 years for robbery.

Authorities said Kazda refused to join the plot and was trusted by the quartet and thrown in a small washroom. The plotters used the wrench to pry apart bars over the cell window. They mounted fire escape to the prison wall, where they attached a 10 foot length of sash cord.

Kirkpatrick, when recaptured, said Patterson went first, successfully dropping the 15 feet to the ground; that he followed, spraining his ankle, and that Schroeder was third. The cord broke under the big man's weight, and Martin slid down a conduit over the wall, Kirkpatrick said.

Senator King Would Abolish Recovery Act

Would Transfer Its Powers To Federal Trade Commission

By Nathan Robertson

The Navy Maneuvers

Resolutions of protest from churches, pacifist and other groups to the contrary notwithstanding, the United States Navy set forth Monday on its maneuvers in the Pacific. The line of 136 ships, equipped with 466 planes, steamed out into the blue waters of the world's biggest ocean under sealed orders.

A terse statement from the Admiral in command was to the effect that operations would be confined to the eastern Pacific close to our own territory. The area covered will extend from California to Midway Island, 1,200 miles west of Hawaii, and from the California-Hawaii line north to Alaska. This will include the exploration of the Aleutian island waters, in which many organizations within the United States have been so eager to have the navy not to maneuver.

These organizations have expressed concern over the attitude of Japan toward operations in the Aleutian waters. Inasmuch as the islands belong to the United States and are a part of the Alaskan possessions, it is hard to see how what happens in that territory can make any difference to Japan. It is significant to note, however, that Japanese fishermen have better knowledge of the Aleutian waters than many American sailors in the Pacific. Surely the same knowledge should be gained by American naval men if they desire it.

Anyhow the navy is maneuvering, dreadnaughts, battle cruisers, destroyers, submarines, airplane carriers, battle planes and all, and every red-blooded American should be proud of that navy and want to see it the best first line of defense the nation can provide.

A Unique Public Servant

In the little village of Santa Claus, Ind., a unique public servant has passed away. He was James F. Martin, 60-year-old postmaster of the tiny southern Indiana settlement. Every year during the holiday season, Postmaster Martin, assisted by the people of the village, has postmarked thousands of letters and packages, which have gone to all parts of the world to delight children, who gained the impression that they came direct from "Santa Claus."

For 28 years Postmaster Martin maintained the tiny post-office, which did little business except during the holiday period. There were times when the postal authorities wanted to discontinue the station, but the postmaster and the villagers argued that the happiness it brought to children everywhere more than made up for the expense of maintaining it.

It was an unusual service this man rendered to humanity. Seldom has a public servant been employed as a distributor of happiness. From the standpoint of efficiency, doubtless the little post-office at Santa Claus, Ind., did not pay, but its dividends came back in smiles and laughter and in the joy the little postmark brought to children's hearts. The man who was the life of this quaint institution, and to whose care the gifts from every state in the Union entrusted their Christmas presents to be sent everywhere, was himself a veritable "Santa Claus."

Strangely Familiar

"For some days people have paid more attention to the holidays and their attendant festivities than to the stern realities of life. However, there are some transactions to note which go to show that all confidence in the future has not yet been lost. The usual diversity of opinion still prevails regarding the matter of feeding cattle. There are not wanting good judges who feel certain that the great supplies from the far west must be greatly reduced before long, leaving a better opportunity and higher price for Illinois grain fed stock before spring grass comes. To this others reply that that has been predicted so long and has so far turned out so badly for Illinois that they have begun to lose faith in the prophecy. Holiday trade has generally been reported good, and our merchants are consequently pleased. We hope the winter and spring business will be equally favorable."

The paragraph quoted above did not refer to the holiday period of 1934, nor do the problems faced by Illinois farmers in competition with western grain and stock concern the AAA. The quotation is from the Jacksonville Weekly Journal of Dec. 28, 1887. Yet it sounds strangely familiar.

In that day the wheat and cattle which came out of the central west competed with the products of Illinois farms. There are those who find some satisfaction in the present distraught condition of that same region, feeling that competition with the more favored sections of the Mississippi is done for awhile.

"There are some transactions which go to show that confidence in the future is not all lost," says the Journal of 47 years ago. Which is exactly the thing that is being said today, as the press endeavors to point out encouraging signs of returning prosperity. Just five years after the publication of that particular issue of the Journal, the editor may have wondered if he had been whistling in the dark; for a panic hit the country, and the people had occasion for real gloom.

History has a strange way of repeating itself until it becomes almost monotonous, but we must remember that during the intervening 47 years this nation has seen some mighty good times and some honest-to-goodness prosperity. We are thankful that history is not impartial in repetition and hands out the pleasant things when it comes their turn.

"HOOEY'S" INCOME

Lincoln, Neb., Star

It may have been gouging in the clinches, or hitting below the belt, but Senator Millard Tydings satisfied a lot of curiosity in the country during a debate in the United States when he turned on Huey Long and asked him what his income was in 1934.

The Kingfisher ducked the first shot and then Tydings let fly with another. Finally Long "fessed up" that he was a $25,000 a year man. And then amplifying on his confidence, the dictator told his colleagues that he spent his money on brass bands, football, and drinks for his friends. He isn't the businessman we suspected. His spending for brass bands betrays a spirit of modesty and humility that does not appear on the surface. To all outward evidence, "Hooley" is a brass band in himself.

Excusable 'Dumbness'
It is always comforting, somehow, to see a professor stub his toe. So there is something perversely pleasing about the knowledge that when 25 Princeton professors met at a tea party the other day and decided to give themselves a general intelligence test, very few of them came even close to passing.

They asked themselves 41 questions. One man managed to answer 19 of them correctly. None of the rest did even that well.

But before we crow too much over professorial frailty, we might remember that those questions were really tough. For instance: Did Naevius originate the fabulae praetextatae? Has the four-dimensional analogue of a cube 12 corners? Are the roots of a general polynomial of degree higher than four, complex numbers? Let's not be too hard on the professors. You could miss on a lot of questions like those and still be a pretty smart sort of person.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Private Lives of Federal Clerks Under Moral X-ray . . . Champion Is Shocked by Charge of Looseness . . . Alice Slapped for Slap at First Lady . . . Some Personal and Locals.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington.—The private lives of government clerks have just become one of those teapot-tempest issues which politicians so frequently make into big headlines for the local newspapers.

There is a section of the badly ridiculed but still extant Economy Act which provides that married persons with husbands or wives in the federal civil service must be fired first wherever personnel reductions are necessary.

Witnesses protesting this clause testified before the House civil service committee that it had the effect of causing young folks on the federal payroll to live together without benefit of clergy. One of the witnesses was President E. Claude Babcock of the A. F. of L.'s American Federation of Government Employees.

Sexual morality of government clerks is by no means one of Mr. Babcock's major concerns. He just thought it was a point of argument against the "married persons clause" which would appeal to a southern congressman or two who might actually be worried about the morals of this town.

Later he insisted he knew of nine such cases of unmarried life, but he didn't suggest that he had ever qualified himself as a genuine viewer-with-alarm by suggesting to these young people that they mend the error of their ways.

Author Is Outraged
Then, just as if he, too, lay awake nights thinking about such problems, Congressman Cochran of Missouri dashed into print with the assertion that Babcock had "insulted every single man and woman in the government."

Meow and Meow!
Latest wisecrack of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth about Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt:

"Every time she opens her mouth a flannel petticoat drops out."

Latest wisecrack of one of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's friends, on hearing same:

"Every time Alice opens her mouth, a mixture of gall and sulphuric acid drips out."

ment service" and urged that Babcock be fired or, possibly, tarred and feathered.

Cochran made a fiery defense of the morals of the boys and girls of the town, insisting Babcock had caused great "mental anguish" to the ladies of the government as well as to their folks back home.

Cochran doesn't care, either. Nor does he know as much about that situation as Babcock does. He merely happens to be the author of the "married persons clause" and is grimly determined to defend it.

Big Shots Violate Act
Which explains how and why the morals of government employees happened to become a burning issue in this town and in Congress itself—as if Congress has nothing else to worry about. (Congressman Ramspeck of Georgia, chairman of the committee, demanded specific, definite proof. He didn't get it.)

Jacksonville Man Among Marooned Passengers In Colorado Snow Storm

Traveling 200 miles through a blinding dust storm and landing in the center of a snow storm that marooned a party of 40 persons for nearly 24 hours, was the experience of Lewis N. Willson, 129 Prospect street, who has arrived safely in Greeley, Colo., where he is visiting his daughter.

When Mr. Willson left Jacksonville last Tuesday, April 23, the weather was warm and the sun was shining. Within 12 hours as the bus progressed into Kansas he witnessed one of the most severe dust storms that has swept that section.

But it was snow, the heaviest fall in 20 years in that part of Colorado, that halted his journey. With a number of other men and women, Mr. Willson found shelter in a pool hall where the marooned travelers strived to make themselves comfortable during the emergency.

His own account of the experience written from Greeley, Colo., continues: "We left Kansas City at 1 o'clock in the morning of April 24 and the weather was fine. During the early morning we did not see any effects of the dust. The wheat and grass looked good until we reached Salina, Kansas. There we were caught in a real dust storm and drove through it for about 200 miles.

Dust, Rain, Snow
"As a variation, it began to rain quite hard and the rain turned to snow. It was not long until it was a genuine blizzard, the snow being very wet and heavy. When we were within 35 miles of Denver we had to stop on account of a large oil truck being stalled in the snow and we could not get around it. After an hour's work with the aid of a state highway department snow plow we got around the truck, but had to be towed up a hill. Then we followed the snow plow 6 miles to a small place that used to be a town. At that point the snow plow became stuck and we could go no further.

"It was then 9 p. m., and we should have been in Denver at 6:30 p. m. There were 40 of us on the bus including the driver. We found an old pool hall and got permission to occupy it until the storm was over and we could get out.

"There was a good coal stove and plenty of fuel but no beds to be had. We got some bread and cheese, meat and coffee and ate picnic fashion. A few of the passengers remained in the bus during the night, the driver keeping the motor going to furnish hot water heat, so that it did not get very cold.

"One of the passengers was a woman 80 years of age and crippled. The majority of us stayed in the pool hall and kept a good fire going. There were 3 old pool tables in the place and several of the stranded travelers slept on them. The others sat around in chairs and on benches.

Take Train to Denver
"The storm continued all night and all day Thursday until the bus was pretty well buried. We received word that the state highway crew could not reach us before Friday, but about 4 p. m., a train got through from the east and the bus driver bought us all railroad tickets to Denver. We arrived there at 5:15 p. m., pretty tired and hungry. I got a train out for Greeley at 5:45 and came here where I am visiting my daughter.

"The Greeley newspaper this morning says the highway is open to Cheyenne but all other roads north, west and east are blocked with snow. It was a general snow storm, the biggest in 20 years, they say. But it has made thousands of farmers happy as it supplies much needed moisture."

Mr. Willson expects to drive to Sidney, Neb., for a visit before returning to Jacksonville.

Centenary Church Notes
Centenary activities for the week will be limited to the midweek prayer service Wednesday evening at 7:30 and choir practice Friday evening at 8:30.

During the past months the choir has developed into a fine organization that adds greatly to the worship service. Acknowledgement of the splendid solo work by a number of young women is due and at Sunday's service Miss Freda Gurley sang "The Voice in the Wilderness." Miss Gurley is always heard with pleasure.

The morning services were well attended in all departments. The evening services were interrupted by the bad showers. Rev. M. M. Blair brought a great message at the morning service using as his text Gen. 2-8. "And the Lord planted a garden." Gardening was the subject and a fine lesson was drawn from the season of planting to meet our physical needs. In the realm of mind and soul the Lord had planted a garden and the call came to His laborers to clear it of the weeds of injustice, dishonesty and all forms of evil. In this garden the seeds of joy, and good will must be grown.

"The Expanding Life" Mark 1-17 where Jesus called Simon and Andrew to follow Him and become fishers of men was the subject of the evening worship. It was also a real inspiration to those who heard.

The coming week will be an important one for Methodists of Jacksonville and their friends. Watch for announcements.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

To the Editor of The Jacksonville Journal:
Santa Monica, Calif., April 20.—This is dispatched just before the president goes on the air tonight. I am anxious to hear the comments in the press. Even if it's good, there is plenty of 'em won't like it, he can speak on the Lord's Supper and he will get editorials against it. Never in our history was we as willing to blame somebody else an insane asylum. There is not a soul in it will admit they are crazy. Roosevelt being the warden at the present time, us inmates know he is the one that's—cuckoo.

Mrs. Albert Neinheuser of Chapin spent Monday in Jacksonville shopping.

Roodhouse callers here Monday included Mrs. Hattie Thompson.

My Cookery News Notes

By LUCILE HARRIS

Editor's Note: "Cookery News Notes" is a new feature of this newspaper, and will be followed with interest by our women readers. The writer is Lucile Harris, staff member of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, recognized authority on cookery of all kinds and especially meat cookery and the planning of meals around the meat course. Experimental cookery has developed a good deal of new information about cooking meat, which is contrary to old ideas. This series of articles will give our readers this new information in helpful form, and will also give a series of excellent recipes and suggestions for serving the meat course of the meal.

NEW MEAT COOKERY TERMS

Just exactly what does "saute" mean? "What is a marinade?" "How does one marinate meat?" "When is meat 'barbecued,' and how is that process different from any other kind of roasting?" "What is the difference between boudin and broth?"

Are you ever a bit puzzled by culinary terms, yet feel hesitant about inquiring, and then wish you had when the subject comes up again?

Now standardized. Only recently a national committee on methods of meat cookery went into the matter of standardizing the much used but often inaccurately employed terms.

Here are the definitions given official sanction by that committee, and you need no longer worry about your cooking vocabulary.

Bake: To cook by indirect dry heat in an oven, or in hot ashes, upon heated metal or stones. But when it is meat you are talking about, you usually say "roast." Bake is also applied to ham which has been partially cooked in water before being put in the oven.

Barbecue: To roast an animal whole or in pieces slowly on a grid iron, spit or over coals in a specially prepared trench. Usually barbecued meat is basted with a highly seasoned sauce.

Baste: To moisten meat while cooking to prevent drying and to add flavor. Usually pan drippings, water or water and fat are used.

Boil: To cook in liquid, usually water, which has reached the boiling point. (Meat should not be boiled, but should simmer, that is, be cooked in water a little below boiling.)

Bouillon: A French word for clear soup or broth.

Braise: You braise meat when you place it in a hot receptacle in its own juice or added liquid, such as water, milk, cream, meat stock, diluted vinegar or juices from vegetables.

Broil: To cook by direct heat from hot coals, gas flame or electric element. To grill.

Broth (also stocks): Is the liquid in which meat, fish, vegetables or cereals have been cooked. It may or may not contain fat. It is a thin soup.

Consomme (again French): Is a clear, strong broth of meat and vegetables, usually made from two or more kinds of meat. It is freed from fat, clear and seasoned.

Fricassee: A dish made of fowl, veal or other meat, cut in pieces and stewed in gravy. It is usually braised.

Fry: Cook in fat.

To lard is to place strips of fat (called lardons) on top of or to insert into meat to add flavor and prevent dryness.

A marinade is an acid liquor usually seasoned and with or without oil, in which meat is allowed to stand before cooking to improve flavor and increase tenderness.

To panbroil is to cook in a hot, uncovered frying-pan, pouring off the fat as it accumulates in the pan.

To parboil is to simmer for a short time preliminary to cooking by another method.

A pot roast is a piece of meat cooked by braising.

Saute is another French word from the verb meaning to jump, and it signifies the frequent turning of meat browned quickly in a small amount of fat. We use it to mean frying in a small amount of fat, as distinguished from deep-fat frying. For saute, the committee prefers the use of the term "fry," which has the sanction of long usage by American housewives.

Grace Church Doings

The Sunday following Easter Sunday was a very active day in Grace church, as all of the services were inspiring and were well attended. The Sunday school reported an attendance of 515 and an offering of $14.35. New scholars are enrolling in the various departments each Sunday.

At the morning hour of worship Dr. Havighurst's sermon topic was "The Spiritual Glory of Sprites." A sermon appropriate to the season in which God's revelation to the universe was proclaimed.

The second hour of the Young People's League was held at 5:30 followed by the devotional period at 6:30 with Ralph Ginder as the leader. The High School League met at 6:30 with Winona Coking as the leader.

At 7:30 Dr. Frank Herron Smith, who is in charge of the Japanese Mission in the United States was the speaker. Dr. Smith has served for forty years as a missionary in Japan and doing work in this country, so he speaks with authority. His address was intensely interesting and very profitable.

Mid-week service of prayer and Bible study on Wednesday evening will study the second chapter of Luke. Members new and old are urged to be present for this inspiring service.

UNION WORKERS BOYCOTT CARDS

St. Louis, April 29.—(AP)—Sam Breadon sighed deeply tonight at the latest in the baseball magnate's woes, a union labor boycott directed primarily at Leo Durocher, his peppery shortstop.

Force of the boycott has not yet made itself felt at the turnstiles of Sportsman's Park, for President Breadon's world champion St. Louis Cardinals are in Cincinnati beginning an extensive baseball road trip designed to keep them away from home until May 17. Developments, however, came fast.

While Breadon sighed, Durocher, in Cincinnati, declined to comment on union charges that he had directed efforts of strikers at the Forest City Manufacturing Co., a dress company employing his bride of last September as a designer.

Durocher expressed surprise at the attitude of the Central Trades and Labor Union which voted yesterday to refrain from patronizing Cardinal games while he remained in the lineup. "I have nothing against the union and don't understand why I should be singled out," he explained. The resolution specified that 70,000 union members would shun the Cardinals until a "proper settlement is made."

Branch Rickey, vice-president, was the official spokesman for the baseball club. He said the boycott was "unfortunate" that Cardinal officials will use their influence to clear up the "misunderstanding."

The "misunderstanding" arose from actions following the arrest, last Feb. 22, of Doris Smith, a garment worker. She was charged with disturbing Durocher's peace near the plant of the Forest City company, where a strike by the Ladies' Garment Workers' Union has continued since last January.

Miss Smith was fined $240 on the basis of Durocher's testimony. He worked for nothing and while you are starving my wife is getting as good in one day as you would in a week."

Several weeks ago the Ladies Garment Workers' Union complained in a letter to baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis that Durocher had told them "you are walking the streets for nothing and while you are starving my wife is getting as good in one day as you would in a week."

Mrs. B. F. Ford of Carrollton was shopping in the city yesterday.

Tigers Smother Browns 18 To 0

St. Louis, April 29.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers opened a four-game stand here today by handing the oft-beaten St. Louis Browns their worst rubbing of the season, 18 to 0, before a crowd of less than a thousand. It was the seventh consecutive loss for the hapless Browns.

The veteran Buck Newsom held the American League champions to four hits in seven innings, but the Tiger batsmen drove Walkup, his successor, to quick cover during a nine-run onslaught in the eighth and garnered six more hits off Weiland before the game ended.

Ithaca, N. Y.—(AP)—Scrapping a setup that has endured since 1889, Cor-

full responsibility for an administration of all athletics as well as physical recreation and education.

Adopting the report of a special committee which has been investigating Cornell athletics since January, the trustees decided on a four-point program which probably will become effective in September.

This plan provides for the appointment of a director of athletics with a seat on the faculty; appointment of a five-man board of athletic policy;

naming of separate advisory committees on various sports, the whole group forming the general advisory committee on athletics; levying of a recreation fee of $4 a term on all undergraduates.

Morgan County Relief
Office Will Stay Open
For Another Ten Days

Administration of relief in Morgan county will continue Tuesday and for at least another 10 days despite the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission's sweeping order to close all offices which cannot meet their obligations after April 30. The Morgan county relief organization has funds to carry on activities through May 9, so that the order is not effective here.

Work projects will continue for another week, grocery orders will go out as usual, and the 1465 families dependent on some kind of relief will be carried along until May 9, at least.

During this period, it is believed, there will be some definite decision between state and federal officials to continue the relief program. Although these are anxious moments for relief officials and families receiving aid, there is a rather general belief locally that a crisis will not be reached.

Mrs. Billie J. Kelly, county relief administrator, has received from Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, an official order to close this office when funds are exhausted. Mr. Dunham ordered all relief offices to close when obligations cannot be met with funds now on hand.

Funds for Ten Days
Mrs. Kelly and her assistants have administered relief in this county within the last few weeks with an eye to such an impending crisis, and have funds with which to meet it temporarily. At a conference between Clarence Ingram, who is in charge of the accounting department; Mrs. Walter Bellatti, county chairman of relief activities; and Mrs. Kelly, the administrator, plans were worked out to keep the office operating another ten days.

The future of the relief office here is dependent on action in the state legislature and by government officials at Washington. Two revenue measures intended to raise the money demanded of Illinois by the FERA, are pending in Springfield. One would raise the retailers occupational tax from 2 to 3 per cent. The companion bill would subject public utilities to this levy, from which they are currently exempt.

Expect Bill to Advance
Little difficulty is anticipated in advancing the bill in the legislature, because advancement requires only 77 votes. But for passage as an emergency measure on Wednesday, the bill would require a two-thirds majority, or 102 votes. Democrats will back the tax and at least 25 Republican votes will be required if Governor Horner is to muster the necessary two-thirds.

There is a possibility that the emergency rider, which would make available an estimated $3,000,000 a month in additional income within a few weeks, will be defeated and the bill passed by a simple majority requiring only 77 votes.

In such event the revenue bills would not become effective until July 1, the immediate unemployment relief problem remaining to be solved by some other means. The state administration is opposed to a general property tax levy which would be required for retirement of emergency poor relief bonds.

The International Dinner of the Catholic Association for International Peace which was held at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D.C., on the evening of April 22, was not only the occasion for a brilliant gathering of distinguished members of the hierarchy, diplomatic corps, senators, congressmen, college professors and other notables representing organizations in the peace movement such as the Quakers Society and World Peace Foundation, but it was also the happy circumstance of the meeting of several Routt students of former days.

Several colleges were represented by tables and at the Routt College table could be discovered Dr. Lawrence J. O'Rourke, Director of Personnel Research, the U.S. Civil Service Commission and one-time professor at Routt; Mrs. Grace Alexander-Greif; Miss Alicia Tuite, an assistant in the National Psychological Research Bureau; James Wagner, Senior student at the Georgetown School of Foreign Service; Matthew A. McKavitt, Reference Librarian at the Library, Department of Justice; his wife, Mrs. Hildegard McKavitt; Miss Isabella Mallon, former resident of Jacksonville and now employed at the Bureau of Internal Revenue; and Miss Elizabeth B. Sweeney, national executive secretary of the Catholic Association for International Peace, who was in charge of the two day conference and dinner.

The speakers at the dinner were Dr. Herbert Wright, professor of International Law at Catholic University of America; Professor Parker T. Moon of Columbia University; Professor Charles G. Fenwick of Bryn Mawr College; and Bishop Emmet Walsh of Charleston.

New Mayor and Council Plan Meeting, Reports Are Heard Last Night

his report to suggest that the new council take immediate action upon special assessment accounts which have been paid off and for which there is still some money available.

This money, he stated, should be returned to the property owners as soon as the consent decree through which the city settled its case against the Avers National bank had been entered in federal court. There is also sufficient money in some of the bond accounts to make it worth while to the city to pro-rate some of the bonds, he stated.

Williamson's report followed a report by the city attorney, O. N. Foreman, in which the status of the city's various legal actions were outlined.

In his report, Foreman stated that the consent decree involving approximately $100,000 in city funds, would be entered the first day of May in the Springfield federal court.

The finance chairman explained that it was the intention of the present council to clean up the special assessment accounts as soon as the suit against the Avers National was completed.

Hope that the city may regain more of its finances, lost when the bank closed its door, was held as slight by the city attorney in commenting upon the status of another suit now in the courts in which M. F. Dunlap and Harry C. Clement are the defendants.

The suit, filed for the purpose of discovering assets, if any, which might be turned over to the city for payment of its claim, has failed to produce anything worth while, the attorney reported, and in view of the fact that there is an additional claim against M. F. Dunlap, for unpaid income taxes, there is not much hope of gaining materially through further action.

The most important of the suits against the city, in which the city is named as defendant by the Bankers Life Insurance company, is nearing completion, the attorney reported. The litigation has reached a point wherein it is now the right of the prosecutors to file a brief, which the city may answer before a decision is handed down. Both sides have agreed as to the facts of the case. The Bankers Life, along with other insurance companies, which purchased bonds issued to obtain money to pay for the South Side Sewer project, is attempting to collect in the neighborhood of $25,000 for improper payment of money to landowners, contending that such payment should have been made with bonds.

The city attorney's report, a written copy of which was filed with the city clerk, also told of the filing of a petition asking for a rehearing of the Nines case in which the city has twice been ruled liable for $500 water damage to its land. There is nothing more to be done on the suit of the Barton County Rock Asphalt company against the city, the attorney said, except receive the decision.

Arrangements have been made to drop the case against Glen Green, charged with keeping a gaming house, because the complaining witness left the city before the case was called, and has not since returned. The case is to be dropped if the defendant pays the costs, otherwise it will be prosecuted by the attorney.

The suit against Herman and Ben Cohen, charging them with dumping refuse on open ground, also is on file in the circuit court awaiting further action. Action has been held up pending a possible solution to the disposal problem at the rendering plant operated by the defendants. The case against George Ring, charged with selling intoxicating liquors without a license, is pending in the circuit court.

The city attorney also informed the council that he has made overtures with the Corn Belt Chevrolet company to sell them the city's credit with the state of Illinois. The credit was accumulated when the city paid a two percent sales tax on water under protest, a tax which was held unconstitutional by the state supreme court.

Credit Memorandum
Three avenues of disposing of this credit memorandum are open, the attorney said. The city may file suit in the court of claims, and then await for the legislature to appropriate funds to pay the claim; it may await the action of a group of legislators who are planning to push a law giving the state treasurer the authority to pay off the claims without awaiting appropriations, or it may sell its credit to a person or firm paying sales tax for use in paying the tax.

West College avenue, one block off South Main, will be blocked for traffic this morning, the attorney decided, when it was determined that the city would be liable for damages to vehicles using the street. The blockade will be erected and the state department of highways notified, the council decided, in order to speed action on replacing the present paving.

In another report, the city attorney informed the council that he had recently had a conversation with Robert Roy, an employee of the Granite Bituminous Paving company, in which he was given to understand that the company would stand back of the paving job on West College avenue in the first block off South Main to the extent of replacing the present faulty pavement.

Experiments have conceived the company's representative, the city attorney said, that the condition of the street was brought on by leaking gas mains. Pieces of similar material were subjected to the effects of gas in the experiment and upon the completion of the experiment, they were found to fall to pieces, and not to bind together again when subjected to pressure. The state highway department also is conducting tests along these lines.

The company has asked the city's cooperation in ironing out the trouble, the city attorney reported, and suggested that the city wait until the state experiment is completed before taking any further action.

Alderman Williamson related that one end of the pavement, which was laid from material hauled here in a truck and which was still hot when it reached here, is in good condition, while the remainder of the pavement is in terrible shape. Foreman answered the statement by saying that this fact will be recognized in Roy's report, and will be accounted for by a technical statement.

The council voted to notify Allen and Cruse that the lease to city property on South Main street will be cancelled in 60 days. Alderman Robert Weaver, chairman of the public improvement committee, made the motion in an effort to obtain the property for leasing to another person.

Although the major portion of the work has been done, Alderman Williamson recommended that the incoming council continue the work now being done by the city sponsored tree surgeons, provided relief labor may be secured. The chairman of the special tree committee said that Garden Club is still interested in purchasing a number of trees for planting next fall, and that there is much work to be done in removing dangerous trees.

Complimenting the relief workers highly, the retiring aldermen declared that the men had done a highly commendable piece of work, and that the city administration has received a number of compliments upon its foresight in taking care of the trees. However, he continued, the special tree committee, consisting of himself and Alderman Ralph Cowgill, has notified the tree workers that after today, they have no more power to instruct them to continue their work.

Tree Work
An effort was made, Williamson said, to equalize the hours spent in each ward, and to take care of all sections of the city. There are still a few short streets which should be covered before the trimming project is closed, and then he pointed out that there remained the work of removing dangerous trees and planting new ones.

The council passed a resolution required by the bonding company which furnished the bonds for the city treasurer, that the council had studied the reports issued by the bank in money, and had found the bank satisfactory.

Refusing to set a policy in the administration, Mayor Wainwright recommended, and the council acted upon his recommendation, that the city reject an assignment of wages presented by the Household Finance corporation. The assignment was rejected as to future earnings of one of the employees of the city government.

The council turned over to the company holding insurance on one of its trucks a claim of the Standard Oil company for $5.66 for damage allegedly caused by tree trimmers. Superintendent Joe Gomez was called before the council and related that he had investigated the claim, and had found that the reflector which the company asked the city to pay for replacing had not been replaced, and that a pole which was reported broken, had not been broken.

The street superintendent was instructed to fix a sidewalk in front of the residence of Joseph Breeding, Mound avenue. The sidewalk broke when a tree, felled by the tree workers, struck the walk.

Nortonville Voters Choose H. Rawlings Road Commissioner

Special Election Held to Name Man Who Will Be Appointed by Board

Henry Rawlings was approved as commissioner in Road District No. 12 at Nortonville in an election Saturday that had no legal status, but was necessary in order to indicate the choice of the people. Rawlings will now be appointed to the office by the county Board of Commissioners.

Such a procedure became necessary when Ernest Henry, who was named in the regular road district election, failed to qualify for the office. In the election Saturday 301 votes were cast. Henry Rawlings received 269 votes. W. Fanning, 22; Hillard Sample, one; Edgar Spire, two; Frank Vedder, one; Roy Kelly, one, and Olin McNamara, one. Four blank ballots were cast.

When the regularly elected commissioner did not qualify, the county board had the right to appoint someone to fill the vacancy. It was decided the board would appoint whoever the people would select in a special election. Henry Rawlings will therefore be the new commissioner.

President Hopes to Get Works Projects Underway by Fall

Congress Faces Summer Term as Roosevelt Asks for More Legislation

Washington, April 29.—After appealing to 44 Americans to help make the $4,880,000,000 work-relief drive "the most efficient and cleanest example of public enterprise the world has ever seen," President Roosevelt sought today to get the vast undertaking "in full swing by autumn."

Meantime, congress faced the prospect of a prolonged session extending well into the hot summer. The president, in the "fireside chat" in which he outlined his work relief program, had called for action on such controversial issues as social security, extension of NRA, banking and utility holding companies legislation.

His remarks on works and legislation were regarded today as two salient portions of the address. Another was the note of optimism the president struck as he sat before the microphones in the oval room with a flower in the lapel of his grey suit and his aides around him.

"Never since my inauguration in March, 1933," he said, "have I felt so unmistakably the atmosphere of recovery."

"Fear is vanishing," he added, "and confidence is growing on every side, renewed faith in the vast possibilities of human beings to improve their material and spiritual status through the instrumentality of democratic government. That faith is receiving its just reward."

"And for that we can be thankful to the God who watches over America."

Early in his address, Mr. Roosevelt answered critics who say the administration's program is confused. Comparing the program to a large ship being built, he said:

"When one of these ships is under construction and the steel frames have been set in the keel, it is difficult for a person who does not know ships to tell how it will finally look when it is sailing the high seas."

Absent from the list of legislation the president mentioned were such measures as the Wagner labor relations bill, the proposed amendments to strengthen the AAA's powers, the Copeland food and drug bill and others. But he said he could name only a few bills in the talk and asserted "I do not want my mention of specific measures to be interpreted as lack of interest in or disapproval of many other important proposals that are pending."

Standard Oil dealers from in and around Jacksonville Monday attended in the New Dunlap Hotel, the first of the 1935 series of conferences regularly held under Standard Oil's auspices to give dealers opportunities to study the most efficient and modern methods of serving motorists.

At this first conference the special merits the company has found to lie in newspapers as an advertising medium are being unfolded, and the dealers informed of the details of the recently launched 1935 newspaper advertising campaign. Time is being devoted to study of the composition of the ads, their effect on the reader, and their local significance in terms of each dealer's specific activities.

Executives participating in the conference are: H. C. Griffin, division manager; E. G. Rounds, assistant division manager; O. V. Sappenfield, division sales manager, and F. A. Shannon, advertising representative, all of Peoria.

The conference was followed by entertainment and a buffet lunch.

OLD JOURNAL SHOWS PRICES LOW IN 1887

Weekly Published Here Has Interesting Accounts
Of Events

Earl Bourn, who resides north of the city, brought to the Journal-Courier office Monday afternoon part of an issue of the Jacksonville Weekly Journal, published Dec. 28, 1887. Mr. Bourn found the paper in the back of an old picture which had been hanging on the wall at his home for many years and had belonged to his parents.

The paper contains an announcement which fixes the date the Journal moved into the office on West State street, it occupied until 1907. It was announced that the business would be moved and would be in its location Monday, Jan. 2, 1888. The move was to be made during the week-end. The building was described as being located "a few doors west of the Gallaher block and east of the courthouse."

The paper also contains an announcement of the second annual exhibit of the Central Illinois Poultry Association, which was to be held in Jacksonville beginning Tuesday, Jan. 3, and continuing thru the remainder of the week.

According to the Weekly Journal, hundreds had been sweeping over Kansas, and sixty persons had frozen to death in that state. China had recently taken a census, showing a population of 392,000,000. There were 36 windows of Revolutionary soldiers still drawing government pensions.

Markets of the day will show what was the state of the cost of living. There were 3 cents a pound, eggs 16 cents a dozen, pigeons not wanted, rabbits 60 cents to $1 per dozen, quails $1 a dozen, apples were 90 cents to $1 a bushel, potatoes 80 cents to $1 a bushel, butter 20 cents a pound, lard 8 cents a pound, dressed ducks $2.75 to $3 a dozen, and dressed geese 40 to 55 cents each.

Visit Apple Country

A large number of the residents from this community motored to Apple Country, Green and Calhoun Counties yesterday to see what is said to be one of the largest blooms in several years. Many visitors from here to Calhoun County made a circle trip by going down through White Hall and Carrollton to Kampsville or Harding and returning on the Pitt County side of the river or vice versa.

However it was not necessary to leave the confines of Scott County to witness beautiful orchards. The orchard of Henry Sherwin, lying south-west of Glasgow, attracted many visitors yesterday. It is one of the finest orchards in the County and was indeed a beautiful sight yesterday.

A large number of the trees had lost part of their bloom but some of the later varieties were in full bloom and a mass of snowy white. Mr. and Mrs. Sherwin, who make their home in Jacksonville, were at the orchard yesterday and accompanied some of their visitors over the orchard and explained the care and culture of the various varieties of fruit trees which make up their orchard. Mr. Sherwin stated that most of the trees were at full bloom about Thursday evening but due to the hot weather and wind many of the blossoms had been blown off.

Meeting Tonight

Although no reason was given for the meeting tonight, it was agreed between the mayor-elect and the newly elected council that the meeting would be held, probably in the city clerk's office. The council chambers already have been promised to the checker players of four counties for a tournament. Committees for the coming two years probably will be appointed at this meeting.

City Clerk Phillips twice called the council's attention to the fact that the mayor-elect had filed a bond, but both times his statement was overlooked in the crush of other last minute business. Several members of the council called attention to the clerk's statement when Mayor Wainright called for an adjournment, but the mayor announced that the vote for adjournment had carried and had left the council room before the remainder of the members of the council realized the full extent of the action.

New Mayor and Council Plan Meeting, Reports Are Heard Last Night

Jacksonville's newly elected mayor and council will begin business tonight at a meeting called for 7:30 o'clock. Mayor-Elect Fletcher J. Blackburn indicated last night when he witnessed the administering of the oath of office to seven of the eight elected members of the council. The aldermen qualified for their positions on the council by taking the oath of office in City Clerk John R. Phillip's office after the retiring council had failed to take action toward inaugurating the recently elected men. Mayor Elect Blackburn qualified for his position a few days ago when he filed the required bond.

Precipitating a situation which brought a half hour discussion of the situation by the newly elected mayor and council, the retiring council suddenly adjourned without fixing a date upon which it would pass upon the bond offered by the incoming mayor, and witness the administration of the oath of office. Mayor W. A. Wainright brought an end to the council session when he obtained a motion and a second for an adjournment, called for a vote, and announced that the vote had carried. He immediately left the city hall.

Seven aldermen, three of whom have served previous terms were present to take their oath of office preparatory to taking over the city government on May 1. Failure of the council to act halted the oath giving for half an hour, after which the aldermen, John Early and Ralph Green, first ward, Ben Denny and William Coking, second ward, P. R. Mathews, third ward, and George Brown and Robert Weaver, fourth ward, went into the city clerk's office, demanded that they be given the oath of office, and signed their names to the official oath, after verbally swearing allegiance to the nation, state and city. Ray Harmon, newly elected third ward alderman, was unable to attend the meeting because of illness. He will be given an opportunity to take the oath of office today.

The work relief in the county stopped last week and 12 employees of the relief office will be laid off Tuesday.

The platform was most artistically arranged. Miss Wright herself was charming in gown of aquamarine mousseline de soie.

The program, consisted of a resume of the work of women in the theatre, and short cuttings from various plays to illustrate. Her points were given with great poise and verity.

Her characterizations were thoughtful and clever. The types depicted were the most difficult to represent for they demanded a broad knowledge of human nature; it's strength and its weakness. Miss Wright's voice is of a clear vibrant quality and her diction clear.
